FRAUD ALERT: Unauthorized WhatsApp Group Impersonating Noble Capital Markets

Noble Capital Markets ("Noble") has become aware of an unauthorized WhatsApp group in which individuals are falsely representing themselves as Noble Capital Markets and/or impersonating certain Noble employees.

Noble Capital Markets is not affiliated with, associated with, or responsible for this WhatsApp group or the individuals operating it. Any communications, investment recommendations, solicitations, requests for funds, or other information distributed through this group are unauthorized and should not be considered communications from Noble or its employees.

Noble takes the protection of its clients and the integrity of its name seriously. If you receive an unsolicited message through WhatsApp or another messaging platform from someone claiming to represent Noble Capital Markets, please do not provide personal or financial information, send funds, click on links, or act on any investment instructions contained in the message.

Noble Capital Markets will never ask you to send money, cryptocurrency, account credentials, passwords, or other sensitive financial information through WhatsApp. If you receive such a request from an individual claiming to represent Noble or one of its employees, do not respond or send any funds or information.

If you are uncertain whether a communication is legitimate, please contact Noble Capital Markets directly using the contact information published on our official website.

We encourage anyone who encounters an account or group impersonating Noble Capital Markets or its employees to report the account to the applicable platform and notify Noble promptly.

Noble Capital Markets does not accept responsibility for communications, transactions, or activities conducted by unauthorized individuals falsely representing themselves as Noble or its employees.
